Contents

1	Introduction Rupp Carriveau and David S-K. Ting			1
	References
2	Data-driven methods for prediction of small-to-medium wind turbines performance Majid Morshedizadeh, Rupp Carriveau and David S-K. Ting
	Abstract
	2.1	5
	2.2	SCAL	DA data treatment	7
		2.2.1	Mean or median value	8
		2.2.2	K-Nearest neighbour	8
		2.2.3	Expectation-maximisation	8
		2.2.4	Decision tree	9
	2.3	Featur	10
		2.3.1	Correlation coefficients	10
		2.3.2	Principal component analysis	11
	2.4	Modelling design networks
		2.4.1	Multi-layer perceptron	14
		2.4.2	Adaptive neuro-fuzzy inference system	15
		2.4.3	Static and dynamic networks	17
		2.4.4	Fusion	17
		2.4.5	Estimation and prediction	18
		2.4.6	Performance evaluation	19
	2.5	A cas	e study	19
		2.5.1	Data pre-processing	19
		2.5.2	Monitoring networks	22
	2.6 Conclusion		usion	23
	Refe	erences		24
3	Optimization of wind farms for communities Ahmadreza Vasel-Be-Hagh
	Abstract
	3.1 Introduction
	3.2 Objective functions and optimization variables			29

3.2.2       Optimization variables       3.3         3.3       Wake-loss models       3.3         3.3.1       Large eddy simulations       3.3         3.3.2       Nonlinear Reynolds-averaged Navier–Stokes (RANS) models       3.3         3.3.3       Stochastic models       3.3         3.3.4       Linearized RANS models       3.3         3.3.5       Empirical wake models       3.3         3.3.6       Kinematic (analytical) models       44         3.4       Search algorithms       44         3.5       Practice your knowledge       44         3.5.1       Case I: Shape of the wind farm       44         3.5.2       Case II: Wake of wind turbines       44         3.5.4       Case IV: Yaw angle of wind turbines       45         3.5.5       Case VI: Surface roughness       46         3.5.6       Case VI: Surface roughness       56         3.5.7       Case VI: Surface roughness       56         3.5.10       Case X: Fatigue loads       52         3.5.10       Case X: Fatigue loads       52         3.5.11       Case XII: Turbine type       53         3.5.12       Case XII: Atmospheric stability       54         3.5.13			3.2.1	Objective functions	30
3.3       Wake-loss models       3-3-3         3.3.1       Large eddy simulations       3-3-3         3.3.2       Nonlinear Reynolds-averaged Navier-Stokes       3-3-3         (RANS) models       3-3-3         3.3.3       Stochastic models       3-3-3         3.3.4       Linearized RANS models       3-3-3         3.3.5       Empirical wake models       3-3-3         3.3.6       Kinematic (analytical) models       44         3.3.6       Kinematic (analytical) models       44         3.5       Practice your knowledge       44         3.5.1       Case I: Shape of the wind farm       44         3.5.2       Case II: Wake of wind turbines       44         3.5.1       Case IV: Yaw angle of wind turbines       44         3.5.2       Case IV: Yaw angle of wind turbines       44         3.5.5       Case VI: Surface roughness       56         3.5.6       Case VII: Inner turbines versus outer turbines       56         3.5.7       Case VII: Hub height optimization       56         3.5.10       Case X: Fatigue loads       53         3.5.11       Case X: ITurbine type       55         3.5.12       Case XIII: Wind farms and hurricanes       56			3.2.2	Optimization variables	32
3.3.1       Large eddy simulations       3-3-3         3.3.2       Nonlinear Reynolds-averaged Navier–Stokes (RANS) models       3-3-3         3.3.3       Stochastic models       3-3-3         3.3.4       Linearized RANS models       3-3-3         3.3.4       Linearized RANS models       3-3-3         3.3.5       Empirical wake models       44         3.3.6       Kinematic (analytical) models       44         3.4       Search algorithms       44         3.5       Practice your knowledge       44         3.5.1       Case I: Shape of the wind farm       44         3.5.2       Case II: Wake of wind turbines       44         3.5.3       Case II: Wake of wind turbines       44         3.5.3       Case II: Wake of wind turbines       44         3.5.4       Case IV: Yaw angle of wind turbines       44         3.5.5       Case VI: Surface roughness       56         3.5.7       Case VII: Inner turbines versus outer turbines       56         3.5.8       Case VII: Wind farm noise production       56         3.5.9       Case XII: Hub height optimization       52         3.5.10       Case XII: Hub height optimization       52         3.5.12       Case XIII: Wind fa		3.3	Wake-lo	oss models	34
3.3.2       Nonlinear Reynolds-averaged Navier–Stokes (RANS) models       33         3.3.3       Stochastic models       34         3.3.4       Linearized RANS models       34         3.3.5       Empirical wake models       34         3.3.6       Kinematic (analytical) models       44         3.3.6       Kinematic (analytical) models       44         3.5       Practice your knowledge       44         3.5.1       Case I: Shape of the wind farm       44         3.5.2       Case II: Wake of wind turbines       44         3.5.3       Case II: Wake of wind turbines       44         3.5.4       Case IV: Yaw angle of wind turbines       44         3.5.5       Case V: Variation of power production with wind direction       44         3.5.6       Case VI: Surface roughness       56         3.5.7       Case VII: Inner turbines versus outer turbines       56         3.5.8       Case VII: Wind farm noise production       56         3.5.10       Case X: Fatigue loads       55         3.5.11       Case XII: Turbine type       55         3.5.12       Case XII: Atmospheric stability       54         3.5.13       Case XIII: Wind farms and hurricanes       56         3.5.13			3.3.1	Large eddy simulations	34
(RANS) models33 $3.3.3$ Stochastic models34 $3.3.4$ Linearized RANS models34 $3.3.5$ Empirical wake models34 $3.3.6$ Kinematic (analytical) models44 $3.3.6$ Kinematic (analytical) models44 $3.4$ Search algorithms44 $3.5$ Practice your knowledge44 $3.5.1$ Case I: Shape of the wind farm44 $3.5.2$ Case II: Wake of wind turbines44 $3.5.3$ Case II: Wind speed deficit in wind farms44 $3.5.4$ Case IV: Yaw angle of wind turbines44 $3.5.5$ Case V: Variation of power production with wind direction44 $3.5.6$ Case VI: Surface roughness50 $3.5.7$ Case VII: Inner turbines versus outer turbines50 $3.5.8$ Case VII: Wind farm noise production50 $3.5.9$ Case IX: Hub height optimization50 $3.5.10$ Case XI: Turbine type51 $3.5.12$ Case XII: Atmospheric stability54 $3.5.13$ Case XIII: Wind farms and hurricanes52References54Financing for community wind and solar project developmentLindsay Miller and Rupp Carriveau64Abstract664.1Introduction664.2Benefits of community wind and solar – defined664.3Lessons from overseas664.4Overview of available incentives and credits in North America744.5.1Munici			3.3.2	Nonlinear Reynolds-averaged Navier-Stokes
3.3.3Stochastic models333.3.4Linearized RANS models343.3.5Empirical wake models443.3.6Kinematic (analytical) models443.4Search algorithms443.5Practice your knowledge443.5.1Case I: Shape of the wind farm443.5.2Case II: Wake of wind turbines443.5.3Case II: Wind speed deficit in wind farms443.5.4Case IV: Yaw angle of wind turbines443.5.5Case VI: Yaw angle of wind turbines453.5.6Case VI: Yaw angle of wind turbines463.5.7Case VI: Surface roughness563.5.8Case VII: Inner turbines versus outer turbines563.5.9Case IX: Hub height optimization523.5.10Case X: Fatigue loads523.5.11Case XII: Atmospheric stability543.5.12Case XIII: Wind farms and hurricanes544Financing for community wind and solar project development64Lindsay Miller and Rupp Carriveau64Abstract664.1Introduction644.2Benefits of community wind and solar664.3Lessons from overseas664.4Overview of available incentives and credits in North America744.5Historical financing models744.5Historical financing models754.5Historical financing models754.5Historical financing mo				(RANS) models	37
3.3.4Linearized RANS models33 $3.3.5$ Empirical wake models44 $3.3.6$ Kinematic (analytical) models44 $3.4$ Search algorithms44 $3.5$ Practice your knowledge44 $3.5.1$ Case I: Shape of the wind farm44 $3.5.2$ Case II: Wake of wind turbines44 $3.5.3$ Case II: Wake of wind turbines44 $3.5.4$ Case IV: Yaw angle of wind turbines44 $3.5.5$ Case VI: Yaw angle of wind turbines44 $3.5.4$ Case IV: Yaw angle of wind turbines44 $3.5.5$ Case VI: Surface roughness50 $3.5.6$ Case VII: Surface roughness50 $3.5.7$ Case VIII: Wind farm noise production51 $3.5.8$ Case VIII: Wind farm noise production52 $3.5.9$ Case IX: Hub height optimization52 $3.5.10$ Case X: Fatigue loads53 $3.5.11$ Case XII: Atmospheric stability54 $3.5.12$ Case XIII: Wind farms and hurricanes54References54 4 Financing for community wind and solar project development64 $4.1.1$ Community wind and solar - defined66 $4.2$ Benefits of community wind and solar66 $4.3$ Lessons from overseas66 $4.4$ Overview of available incentives and credits in North America74 $4.5.1$ Municipal wind74			3.3.3	Stochastic models	38
3.3.5       Empirical wake models       44         3.3.6       Kinematic (analytical) models       44         3.4       Search algorithms       44         3.5       Practice your knowledge       44         3.5.1       Case I: Shape of the wind farm       44         3.5.2       Case II: Wake of wind turbines       44         3.5.3       Case III: Wind speed deficit in wind farms       44         3.5.3       Case IV: Yaw angle of wind turbines       44         3.5.4       Case IV: Yaw angle of wind turbines       44         3.5.5       Case V: Variation of power production with wind direction       49         3.5.6       Case VI: Surface roughness       50         3.5.7       Case VII: Surface roughness       50         3.5.8       Case VII: Wind farm noise production       50         3.5.9       Case IX: Hub height optimization       52         3.5.10       Case XII: Atmospheric stability       52         3.5.12       Case XII: Atmospheric stability       52         3.5.13       Case XIII: Wind farms and hurricanes       54         Pinancing for community wind and solar project development       64         Lindsay Miller and Rupp Carriveau       65         Abstract <td< td=""><td></td><td></td><td>3.3.4</td><td>Linearized RANS models</td><td>38</td></td<>			3.3.4	Linearized RANS models	38
3.3.6       Kinematic (analytical) models       44         3.4       Search algorithms       44         3.5       Practice your knowledge       44         3.5.1       Case I: Shape of the wind farm       44         3.5.2       Case II: Wake of wind turbines       44         3.5.3       Case III: Wind speed deficit in wind farms       44         3.5.3       Case IV: Yaw angle of wind turbines       44         3.5.4       Case IV: Yaw angle of wind turbines       46         3.5.5       Case V: Variation of power production with wind direction       46         3.5.6       Case VI: Surface roughness       50         3.5.7       Case VII: Inner turbines versus outer turbines       56         3.5.8       Case VII: Wind farm noise production       51         3.5.10       Case XI: Fatigue loads       52         3.5.11       Case XII: Atmospheric stability       52         3.5.12       Case XIII: Wind farms and hurricanes       54 Financing for community wind and solar project development 64         Lindsay Miller and Rupp Carriveau       65 4 Financing for community wind and solar – defined 64         4.1       Introduction       64         4.1 <td></td> <td></td> <td>3.3.5</td> <td>Empirical wake models</td> <td>40</td>			3.3.5	Empirical wake models	40
3.4       Search algorithms       4:         3.5       Practice your knowledge       4:         3.5.1       Case I: Shape of the wind farm       4:         3.5.2       Case II: Wake of wind turbines       4:         3.5.3       Case III: Wind speed deficit in wind farms       4:         3.5.3       Case IV: Yaw angle of wind turbines       4:         3.5.4       Case IV: Yaw angle of wind turbines       4:         3.5.5       Case V: Variation of power production with wind direction       4:         3.5.6       Case VI: Surface roughness       5:         3.5.7       Case VII: Inner turbines versus outer turbines       5:         3.5.8       Case VII: Wind farm noise production       5:         3.5.9       Case IX: Hub height optimization       5:         3.5.10       Case XI: Turbine type       5:         3.5.11       Case XII: Atmospheric stability       5:         3.5.12       Case XIII: Wind farms and hurricanes       5:         References       5:       5:         4       Financing for community wind and solar project development       6:         Lindsay Miller and Rupp Carriveau       6:       6:         Abstract       6:       6:         4.1 <t< td=""><td></td><td></td><td>3.3.6</td><td>Kinematic (analytical) models</td><td>40</td></t<>			3.3.6	Kinematic (analytical) models	40
3.5       Practice your knowledge       44         3.5.1       Case I: Shape of the wind farm       44         3.5.2       Case II: Wake of wind turbines       44         3.5.3       Case II: Wind speed deficit in wind farms       44         3.5.3       Case III: Wind speed deficit in wind farms       44         3.5.4       Case IV: Yaw angle of wind turbines       44         3.5.5       Case IV: Yaw angle of wind turbines       44         3.5.6       Case V: Variation of power production with wind direction       44         3.5.5       Case VI: Surface roughness       56         3.5.7       Case VII: Inner turbines versus outer turbines       56         3.5.9       Case VII: Wind farm noise production       56         3.5.10       Case XI: Hub height optimization       52         3.5.11       Case XII: Turbine type       52         3.5.12       Case XIII: Atmospheric stability       54         3.5.13       Case XIII: Wind farms and hurricanes       54 Financing for community wind and solar project development 64 Lindsay Miller and Rupp Carriveau 64         Abstract       65       65         4.1       Introduction       64         4.2       <		3.4	Search a	algorithms	45
3.5.1       Case I: Shape of the wind farm       44         3.5.2       Case II: Wake of wind turbines       44         3.5.3       Case III: Wind speed deficit in wind farms       44         3.5.4       Case IV: Yaw angle of wind turbines       46         3.5.4       Case IV: Yaw angle of wind turbines       46         3.5.4       Case IV: Yaw angle of wind turbines       46         3.5.5       Case V: Variation of power production with wind direction       47         3.5.5       Case V: Surface roughness       56         3.5.7       Case VII: Inner turbines versus outer turbines       56         3.5.8       Case VIII: Wind farm noise production       56         3.5.9       Case XI: Hub height optimization       52         3.5.10       Case XI: Turbine type       53         3.5.12       Case XII: Atmospheric stability       54         3.5.13       Case XIII: Wind farms and hurricanes       54 4 Financing for community wind and solar project development       65 Lindsay Miller and Rupp Carriveau 66       67 4 Overview of available incentives and credits in North America       76 4 Overview of available incentives and credits in North America       76		3.5	Practice	your knowledge	48
3.5.2       Case II: Wake of wind turbines       44         3.5.3       Case III: Wind speed deficit in wind farms       44         3.5.4       Case IV: Yaw angle of wind turbines       44         3.5.5       Case V: Variation of power production with wind direction       49         3.5.6       Case V: Variation of power production with wind direction       49         3.5.7       Case VI: Surface roughness       50         3.5.7       Case VII: Inner turbines versus outer turbines       50         3.5.8       Case VIII: Wind farm noise production       50         3.5.9       Case IX: Hub height optimization       52         3.5.10       Case XI: Turbine type       52         3.5.12       Case XIII: Atmospheric stability       54         3.5.13       Case XIII: Wind farms and hurricanes       54         References       54         4       Financing for community wind and solar project development       65         4.1       Introduction       64         4.2       Benefits of community wind and solar – defined       66         4.2       Benefits of community wind and solar       67         4.3       Lessons from overseas       63       64         4.4       Overview of available incentives and credi			3.5.1	Case I: Shape of the wind farm	48
3.5.3       Case III: Wind speed deficit in wind farms       44         3.5.4       Case IV: Yaw angle of wind turbines       49         3.5.5       Case V: Variation of power production with wind direction       49         3.5.6       Case VI: Surface roughness       50         3.5.7       Case VI: Surface roughness       50         3.5.7       Case VII: Inner turbines versus outer turbines       50         3.5.8       Case VIII: Wind farm noise production       50         3.5.9       Case IX: Hub height optimization       52         3.5.10       Case XI: Fatigue loads       52         3.5.11       Case XII: Turbine type       52         3.5.12       Case XIII: Atmospheric stability       52         3.5.13       Case XIII: Wind farms and hurricanes       54         References         4         Financing for community wind and solar project development         Lindsay Miller and Rupp Carriveau       62         Abstract       62         4.1       Introduction       64         4.2       Benefits of community wind and solar – defined       66         4.2       Benefits of community wind and solar       64         4.3       Lessons from overseas <td></td> <td></td> <td>3.5.2</td> <td>Case II: Wake of wind turbines</td> <td>48</td>			3.5.2	Case II: Wake of wind turbines	48
3.5.4       Case IV: Yaw angle of wind turbines       49         3.5.5       Case V: Variation of power production with wind direction       49         3.5.6       Case VI: Surface roughness       50         3.5.7       Case VII: Inner turbines versus outer turbines       50         3.5.8       Case VII: Wind farm noise production       50         3.5.9       Case IX: Hub height optimization       52         3.5.10       Case X: Fatigue loads       53         3.5.11       Case XI: Turbine type       53         3.5.12       Case XII: Atmospheric stability       54         3.5.13       Case XIII: Wind farms and hurricanes       54         References       54         4       Financing for community wind and solar project development       65         4.1       Introduction       64         4.2       Benefits of community wind and solar – defined       66         4.2       Benefits of community wind and solar       67         4.3       Lessons from overseas       63         4.4       Overview of available incentives and credits in North America       70         4.5       Historical financing models       71         4.5.1       Municipal wind       71			3.5.3	Case III: Wind speed deficit in wind farms	48
3.5.5       Case V: Variation of power production with wind direction       49         3.5.6       Case VI: Surface roughness       50         3.5.7       Case VII: Inner turbines versus outer turbines       50         3.5.8       Case VII: Wind farm noise production       50         3.5.9       Case IX: Hub height optimization       51         3.5.10       Case X: Fatigue loads       52         3.5.11       Case XI: Turbine type       53         3.5.12       Case XII: Atmospheric stability       54         3.5.13       Case XIII: Wind farms and hurricanes       54         References       54 4 Financing for community wind and solar project development       63         4.1       Introduction       64         4.1       Community wind and solar – defined       66         4.2       Benefits of community wind and solar       66         4.3       Lessons from overseas       66         4.4       Overview of available incentives and credits in North America       70         4.5       Historical financing models       71         4.5       Municipal wind       71			3.5.4	Case IV: Yaw angle of wind turbines	49
wind direction443.5.6Case VI: Surface roughness503.5.7Case VII: Inner turbines versus outer turbines503.5.8Case VIII: Wind farm noise production503.5.9Case IX: Hub height optimization513.5.10Case X: Fatigue loads513.5.11Case XI: Turbine type523.5.12Case XII: Atmospheric stability543.5.13Case XIII: Wind farms and hurricanes54References544Financing for community wind and solar project development Lindsay Miller and Rupp Carriveau63Abstract634.1Introduction 4.1.1644.2Benefits of community wind and solar – defined644.3Lessons from overseas634.4Overview of available incentives and credits in North America764.5Historical financing models714.5.1Municipal wind71			3.5.5	Case V: Variation of power production with
3.5.6       Case VI: Surface roughness       56         3.5.7       Case VII: Inner turbines versus outer turbines       56         3.5.8       Case VII: Wind farm noise production       56         3.5.9       Case IX: Hub height optimization       57         3.5.10       Case X: Fatigue loads       51         3.5.10       Case X: Fatigue loads       51         3.5.11       Case XI: Turbine type       52         3.5.12       Case XII: Atmospheric stability       54         3.5.13       Case XIII: Wind farms and hurricanes       54         References       54 4 Financing for community wind and solar project development 62         4.1       Introduction       64         4.1       Community wind and solar – defined       66         4.2       Benefits of community wind and solar       63         4.3       Lessons from overseas       63         4.4       Overview of available incentives and credits in North America       76         4.5       Historical financing models       77         4.5.1       Municipal wind       77				wind direction	49
3.5.7       Case VII: Inner turbines versus outer turbines       56         3.5.8       Case VIII: Wind farm noise production       56         3.5.9       Case IX: Hub height optimization       57         3.5.10       Case X: Fatigue loads       57         3.5.11       Case XI: Turbine type       57         3.5.12       Case XII: Atmospheric stability       54         3.5.13       Case XIII: Wind farms and hurricanes       54         References       54         4       Financing for community wind and solar project development       65         4.1       Introduction       64         4.1       Community wind and solar – defined       66         4.2       Benefits of community wind and solar       66         4.3       Lessons from overseas       63         4.4       Overview of available incentives and credits in North America       76         4.5       Historical financing models       77         4.5.1       Municipal wind       77			3.5.6	Case VI: Surface roughness	50
3.5.8       Case VIII: Wind farm noise production       50         3.5.9       Case IX: Hub height optimization       52         3.5.10       Case X: Fatigue loads       52         3.5.11       Case XI: Turbine type       52         3.5.12       Case XII: Atmospheric stability       54         3.5.13       Case XIII: Wind farms and hurricanes       54         References       54         4       Financing for community wind and solar project development       63         Lindsay Miller and Rupp Carriveau       63         Abstract       63         4.1       Introduction       64         4.2       Benefits of community wind and solar – defined       66         4.2       Benefits of community wind and solar       67         4.3       Lessons from overseas       63         4.4       Overview of available incentives and credits in North America       74         4.5       Historical financing models       74         4.5.1       Municipal wind       74			3.5.7	Case VII: Inner turbines versus outer turbines	50
<ul> <li>3.5.9 Case IX: Hub height optimization</li> <li>3.5.10 Case X: Fatigue loads</li> <li>3.5.11 Case XI: Turbine type</li> <li>3.5.12 Case XII: Atmospheric stability</li> <li>3.5.13 Case XIII: Wind farms and hurricanes</li> <li>References</li> <li>4 Financing for community wind and solar project development</li> <li>Lindsay Miller and Rupp Carriveau</li> <li>Abstract</li> <li>4.1 Introduction</li> <li>4.1.1 Community wind and solar – defined</li> <li>4.2 Benefits of community wind and solar</li> <li>4.3 Lessons from overseas</li> <li>4.4 Overview of available incentives and credits in North America</li> <li>4.5.1 Municipal wind</li> <li>4.5.1 Municipal wind</li> </ul>			3.5.8	Case VIII: Wind farm noise production	50
<ul> <li>3.5.10 Case X: Fatigue loads</li> <li>3.5.11 Case XI: Turbine type</li> <li>3.5.12 Case XII: Atmospheric stability</li> <li>3.5.13 Case XIII: Wind farms and hurricanes</li> <li>References</li> <li>4 Financing for community wind and solar project development</li> <li>Lindsay Miller and Rupp Carriveau</li> <li>Abstract</li> <li>4.1 Introduction</li> <li>4.1.1 Community wind and solar – defined</li> <li>4.2 Benefits of community wind and solar</li> <li>4.3 Lessons from overseas</li> <li>4.4 Overview of available incentives and credits in North America</li> <li>4.5 Historical financing models</li> <li>4.5.1 Municipal wind</li> <li>4.5.2 Community (in the principal of the p</li></ul>			3.5.9	Case IX: Hub height optimization	52
3.5.11       Case XI: Turbine type       5.         3.5.12       Case XII: Atmospheric stability       54         3.5.13       Case XIII: Wind farms and hurricanes       54         References         4       Financing for community wind and solar project development       62         Lindsay Miller and Rupp Carriveau       62         Abstract       63         4.1       Introduction       64         4.2       Benefits of community wind and solar – defined       66         4.2       Benefits of community wind and solar       63         4.3       Lessons from overseas       63         4.4       Overview of available incentives and credits in North America       70         4.5       Historical financing models       71         4.5.1       Municipal wind       71			3.5.10	Case X: Fatigue loads	53
3.5.12       Case XII: Atmospheric stability       54         3.5.13       Case XIII: Wind farms and hurricanes       54         References       54         4       Financing for community wind and solar project development       63         Lindsay Miller and Rupp Carriveau       63         Abstract       63         4.1       Introduction       64         4.2       Benefits of community wind and solar – defined       66         4.2       Benefits of community wind and solar       67         4.3       Lessons from overseas       68         4.4       Overview of available incentives and credits in North America       70         4.5       Historical financing models       71         4.5.1       Municipal wind       71			3.5.11	Case XII: Atmospheric stability	55
3.5.13       Case AIII: wind farms and nurricanes       54         References       54         4       Financing for community wind and solar project development       65         Lindsay Miller and Rupp Carriveau       65         Abstract       65         4.1       Introduction       64         4.2       Benefits of community wind and solar – defined       66         4.2       Benefits of community wind and solar       67         4.3       Lessons from overseas       68         4.4       Overview of available incentives and credits in North America       76         4.5       Historical financing models       71         4.5.1       Municipal wind       71			3.5.12	Case XII: Atmospheric stability	54
4       Financing for community wind and solar project development       63         4.1       Introduction       63         4.1.1       Community wind and solar – defined       66         4.2       Benefits of community wind and solar       67         4.3       Lessons from overseas       68         4.4       Overview of available incentives and credits in North America       70         4.5       Historical financing models       71         4.50       C       71		Dafa	3.3.13	Case AIII: wind farms and nurricanes	54
4 Financing for community wind and solar project development       63         Lindsay Miller and Rupp Carriveau       63         Abstract       63         4.1 Introduction       64         4.1.1 Community wind and solar – defined       66         4.2 Benefits of community wind and solar       67         4.3 Lessons from overseas       68         4.4 Overview of available incentives and credits in North America       76         4.5 Historical financing models       71         4.5.1 Municipal wind       71		Rele	rences		54
Abstract       6.         4.1 Introduction       6.         4.1.1 Community wind and solar – defined       6.         4.2 Benefits of community wind and solar       6.         4.3 Lessons from overseas       6.         4.4 Overview of available incentives and credits in North America       70         4.5 Historical financing models       71         4.5.1 Municipal wind       72	4	Fina Lina	ncing fo Isay Mille	r community wind and solar project development er and Rupp Carriveau	63
<ul> <li>4.1 Introduction</li> <li>4.1.1 Community wind and solar – defined</li> <li>4.2 Benefits of community wind and solar</li> <li>4.3 Lessons from overseas</li> <li>4.4 Overview of available incentives and credits in North America</li> <li>4.5 Historical financing models</li> <li>4.5.1 Municipal wind</li> <li>4.5.2 Community (circle and credits in North America)</li> </ul>		Abst	ract		63
4.1.1Community wind and solar – defined664.2Benefits of community wind and solar674.3Lessons from overseas684.4Overview of available incentives and credits in North America704.5Historical financing models714.5.1Municipal wind724.5.2Community wind72		4.1	Introduc	ction	64
<ul> <li>4.2 Benefits of community wind and solar</li> <li>4.3 Lessons from overseas</li> <li>4.4 Overview of available incentives and credits in North America</li> <li>4.5 Historical financing models</li> <li>4.5.1 Municipal wind</li> <li>4.5.2 Community wind (circle and circle and ci</li></ul>			4.1.1	Community wind and solar – defined	66
<ul> <li>4.3 Lessons from overseas</li> <li>4.4 Overview of available incentives and credits in North America</li> <li>4.5 Historical financing models</li> <li>4.5.1 Municipal wind</li> <li>4.5.2 Graduate (circle and circle and cir</li></ul>		4.2	Benefits	s of community wind and solar	67
<ul> <li>4.4 Overview of available incentives and credits in North America</li> <li>4.5 Historical financing models</li> <li>4.5.1 Municipal wind</li> <li>7.1</li> <li>7.2</li> <li>7.3</li> <li>7.4</li> <li>7.4</li> <li>7.5</li> <li>7.5</li> <li>7.6</li> <li>7.7</li> <li>7.7<td></td><td></td><td>т</td><td>from overseas</td><td>68</td></li></ul>			т	from overseas	68
4.5       Historical financing models       7         4.5.1       Municipal wind       7         4.5.2       Guide financing models       7		4.3	Lessons
4.5.1 Municipal wind 7		4.3 4.4	Overvie	w of available incentives and credits in North America	70
		4.3 4.4 4.5	Overvie Historic	w of available incentives and credits in North America al financing models	70 71
4.5.2 Cooperatives (wind and solar) 72		4.3 4.4 4.5	Lessons Overvie Historic 4.5.1	w of available incentives and credits in North America al financing models Municipal wind	70 71 71
4.5.3 Private placements (wind and solar) 72		4.3 4.4 4.5	University of the constraint o	w of available incentives and credits in North America al financing models Municipal wind Cooperatives (wind and solar)	70 71 71 72
4.5.4 Private equity (wind and solar) 72		4.3 4.4 4.5	Lessons Overvie Historic 4.5.1 4.5.2 4.5.3	w of available incentives and credits in North America cal financing models Municipal wind Cooperatives (wind and solar) Private placements (wind and solar)	70 71 71 72 72
4.5.5 Multiple local owner (wind and solar) 72		4.3 4.4 4.5	Lessons Overvie Historic 4.5.1 4.5.2 4.5.3 4.5.4	ew of available incentives and credits in North America cal financing models Municipal wind Cooperatives (wind and solar) Private placements (wind and solar) Private equity (wind and solar)	70 71 71 72 72 72
4.5.6 Flip structures (wind) 73		4.3 4.4 4.5	Lessons Overvie Historic 4.5.1 4.5.2 4.5.3 4.5.4 4.5.5	w of available incentives and credits in North America cal financing models Municipal wind Cooperatives (wind and solar) Private placements (wind and solar) Private equity (wind and solar) Multiple local owner (wind and solar)	70 71 71 72 72 72 72 72
4.5.7 On-site projects, behind the meter (wind and solar) 73		4.3 4.4 4.5	Lessons Overvie Historic 4.5.1 4.5.2 4.5.3 4.5.4 4.5.5 4.5.6	w of available incentives and credits in North America cal financing models Municipal wind Cooperatives (wind and solar) Private placements (wind and solar) Private equity (wind and solar) Multiple local owner (wind and solar) Flip structures (wind)	70 71 71 72 72 72 72 72 73

		4.5.8	Utility-sponsored model (wind and solar)	73
		4.5.9	Special-purpose entity (wind and solar)	74
		4.5.10	Non-profit model (solar)	74
	4.6	Innova	tive financing models – case studies
		of com	munity wind	74
		4.6.1	Cases from the United States	74
		4.6.2	Cases from Canada	78
		4.6.3	Discussion on replicability and challenges	80
	4.7	Innova	tive financing models – case studies
		of com	imunity solar	81
		4.7.1	Cases from the United States	82
		4.7.2	Cases from Canada	85
		4.7.3	Discussion on replicability and challenges	86
	4.8	Summa	ary and conclusions	87
	Refe	erences		91
5	Con	nmunity	y-level solar thermal systems	95
•	Vish	al Bhall	la, Vikrant Khullar and Himanshu Tyagi	20
	Abs	tract		95
	5.1	Introdu	action	95
	5.2	Solar e	energy	97
	5.3	Flat-pla	ate collector	99
		5.3.1	Construction and operation of a flat-plate collector	99
		5.3.2	Design and operational parameters	101
	5.4	Comm	unity-level volumetric absorption-based solar c	ollectors (using nanofluids)	104
		5.4.1	Numerical model of the volumetric
			absorption-based solar collector	104
		5.4.2	Parameters influencing the performance of the solar collector	107
	5.5	Summa	ary	115
	Refe	erences		115
6	Sola	r-wate	r desalination for small communities	119
-	Fah	ad Amee	en, Jacqueline A. Stagner and David S-K. Ting
	Abs	tract		119
	6.1	Introdu	action	119
	6.2	Types	of solar-water desalination	122
		6.2.1	Direct solar-water desalination systems	122
	6.3	Mather	matical modeling of an inclined solar still	126
		6.3.1	Convective heat transfer	128
		6.3.2	Radiative heat transfer	128
		6.3.3	Evaporative heat transfer	129
		6.3.4	Annual cost of water production	130

	6.4	Comn	nunity to study	131
	6.5	Future	e outlook of renewable energy in Pakistan	134
		6.5.1	Energy security	134
		6.5.2	Economic benefits	134
		6.5.3	Social equity	135
		6.5.4	Environmental protection	135
		6.5.5	Future development of renewable energy	135
	6.6	Concl	usion	136
	Ack	nowled	gment	137
	Refe	erences		137
7	Con	nmunit	y solar PV projects	139
	Avin	ash Sir	ngh, Paul Henshaw and David S-K. Ting
	Abst	tract		139
	7.1	Introd	uction	140
		7.1.1	What is a community solar PV project?	140
		7.1.2	Rationale of community solar PV projects	140
		7.1.3	Variations in community solar PV projects	142
	7.2	Comn	nunity solar PV models	143
		7.2.1	Grid/utility sponsored community solar PV projects	143
		7.2.2	Special purpose entity (SPE) sponsored community
			solar PV	145
		7.2.3	Nonprofit sponsored community solar PV	146
		7.2.4	Comparison of the community solar PV project models	147
	7.3	Comn	nunity solar PV projects implementation barriers	148
		7.3.1	High acquisition and installation cost	148
		7.3.2	Space	148
		7.3.3	Investors	149
		7.3.4	No grid connection	149
		7.3.5	Lack of government policies	149
		7.3.6	Lack of government incentives	149
		7.3.7	Complexity issues	149
		7.3.8	Customer inertia	150
	7.4	Select	ed examples of existing/future community solar
		PV pr	ojects	150
		7.4.1	Ontario, Canada	150
		7.4.2	California, United States of America	151
		7.4.3	Guyana, South America	153
		7.4.4	Germany, Europe	153
		7.4.5	Rwanda, East Africa	154
	7.5 Summary
	7.6	Recon	nmendations	156
		7.6.1	Policies and regulations	156
		7.6.2	Start-up capacity	157
		7.6.3	Funding	157

	7.7 Conclusion	157
	Abbreviations	158
	References	159
	Further reading	162
8	Assessing wind loads for urban photovoltaic installations David Kazmirowicz, Jesse Bridges, Jonathan Whale and David Wood	163
	Abstract	163
	8.1 Introduction	163
	8.2 Wind loading of PV installations using Australian
	Standard 1170.2	165
	8.2.1 PV wind loading	167
	8.3 The urban wind environment	169
	8.4 Australian mounting system design practices	169
	8.5 Wind tunnel test methods	171
	8.5.1 Flat roof experiments	172
	8.5.2 Sloped roof experiments	176
	8.6 CFD simulations	177
	8.7 Discussion and analysis	179
	8.8 Conclusions	181
	Acknowledgements	182
	References	182
9	Design optimization of multi-energy hubs for community
	energy projects	187
	Azadeh Maroufmashat, Sean B. Walker, Ushnik Mukherjee,
	Michael Fowler, Ali Elkamel and Sourena Sattari
	Abstract	187
	9.1 Introduction	187
	9.2 Methodology	189
	9.3 Illustrative case study	190
	9.4 Results and discussion	193
	9.5 Conclusions	196
	References	197
10	Battery-based storage for communities	199
	Boyuan Zhu, Junwei Lu, Wayne Water, Markos Katsanevakis,
	Mojtaba Moghimi, Domagoj Leskarac and Sascha Stegen
	Abstract
	10.1 Introduction
	10.2 Technology of battery storage
	10.2.1 Conventional and advanced lead-acid batteries	205
	10.2.2 Lithium-ion batteries	206

		10.2.3	Sodium-sulphur batteries	206
		10.2.4	Battery storage in power applications	209
	10.3	Challer	nges of EV penetration in distribution grid	210
		10.3.1	PEVs in communities	210
		10.3.2	EV charging technologies	211
		10.3.3	Infrastructure and control	212
		10.3.4	Grid stability	214
		10.3.5	Limitations	214
	10.4	Econor	nic aspects of battery storage	215
		10.4.1	Cost metric	215
		10.4.2	Effective cost of a battery	215
		10.4.3	System cost breakdown	216
	10.5	Energy	consumption pattern of a community	217
		10.5.1	Regulated power supply	217
		10.5.2	Energy usage pattern classification	223
		10.5.3	Peak apparent power (VA) identification	229
		10.5.4	Summary	231
	10.6	Selection	on process of battery storage	232
		10.6.1	Criteria participating in the selection processes	234
		10.6.2	Weighting description and TCFs identification	236
	10.7	Safety	consideration	239
		10.7.1	Safety hazard of batteries and mitigation	240
		10.7.2	Location of installation	241
		10.7.3	Battery storage enclosure	241
		10.7.4	Safety policies and standards	241
	10.8	Conclu	sion	243
	Refer	ences		244
11	Powe	er-to-gas	and power-to-power for storage and ancillary
	servi	ces in ui	rban areas	247
	Ushni and N	ik Mukhe Aichael I	erjee, Sean B. Walker, Azadeh Maroufmashat Fowler
	Abstr	act		247
	11.1	Introdu	ction	248
	11.2	Method	lology	250
		11.2.1	Mixed integer linear programming formulation	251
	11.3	Results	and discussion	257
		11.3.1	Development of a premium price mechanism for the energy hub	257
	11.4	Conclu	sion	262
	Refer	ences		263

12	Smai	rt multi-	energy microgrids	265
	Tomi	slav Cap	puder and Tomislav Dragičević
	Abstract			265
	12.1	Introdu	iction	265
	12.2 Understanding the idea behind flexible multi-energy
		commu	inities	267
		12.2.1	Drivers of distributed MES flexible operation	269
	12.3	Flexible operation of distributed multi-energy systems
12.3.1 Whe		12.3.1	Where does the flexibility come from?	274
		12.3.2	Multi-energy community modelling	275
	12.4	Conclu	iding remarks	281
	Refer	rences		282
	Sugg	ested lite	erature on other multi-energy aspects	283
13	Conservation and demand management in community
	energy systems			285
	Jessi	e Ma and	d Bala Venkatesh
	Abstract
	13.1	Introdu	action	286
	13.2	Role of	f conservation	286
		13.2.1	Definitions and terminology	287
		13.2.2	Conservation goals and system philosophy	287
		13.2.3	Proposed model	288
		13.2.4	Utilization rates	289
		13.2.5	Coincident peaks	290
	13.3	Implementation of conservation for CES		292
		13.3.1	Disincentives to consume at peak times	292
		13.3.2	Incentives to consume outside of peak times	293
		13.3.3	New managed system demand patterns	294
		13.3.4	Implementation	295
		13.3.5	Future scenarios	297
	13.4 Conclusions			297
	Acknowledgments			298
	Refer	ences		298

301

Contents

xi